To whom this may concern:

APM Construction Services was contracted through a competitive bid process to provide a phased renovation project at Red Deer College. This project includes the renovation of a vacated Visual Arts sculpture lab, demolition of the existing kitchen and renovation of the existing dining room/mixology lab.

RDC has accepted the substantial completion of the first phase of the project. The second phase of the project will occur between April – August 2010.

APM has been diligent to complete the kitchen/mixology labs renovation and were able to provide a work schedule that accommodated the constraints of a learning environment that surrounded the renovation. They were very professional and responded to any requests or issues that RDC required in a timely fashion.

I would recommend APM as the general contractor for any future projects at RDC. Please feel free to contact me if you have any further questions. (403-343-4090)
